January 18—Jonlin at Jenks.
January 22—Dallas at Tulsa.
January 29—Bartlesville at Hartsville.
February 6—Jenks at Jenks.
February 7—Wichita, Kan., at February 13—Muskegon at Tulsa.

February 20—Anadarko at Tulsa.
February 27—Oklahoma City at Oklahoma City.

With a schedule calling for games with leading quintets of the state and southwest, the Tulsa High school basketball team opened its season with a defeat at the hands of Jenks, here last Friday night. Though defeated Friday followers of the crimson and cream believe with an additional week's work that it will be a state championship contender. Jenks is rated as one of the leading scholastic five of Oklahoma and has played several games this season, while last week's contest was the first real test of the locals.

Tulsa high school athletic officials, in adopting a new schedule policy, are planning to play only the representative high schools of the various southwestern states. This idea is being adhered to in the basketball schedule, which does not include so many games as formerly but which is made up of the leading high schools in this section of the country.

Anadarko, last season's state champions and this year one of northern Oklahoma's leaders, Oklahoma City in the central and west portion of the state and Muskogee and Bartlesville, in addition to Jenks in the east, are the Sooner quintets on the schedule. Jonlin, Tulsa and Wichita, leading high schools of their respective states, are also played this season, which serves to get a line on the strength of the various teams and to better determine the southwestern championship.

Coach E. W. Rau has a promising squad consisting of four letter men, several second team men of last season and new players. The letter men are Carter and Vernon, forwards; Weinecke, center; and Keese, guard. Starter of the new men, has won a place as regular guard. Fraika, forward; Berlin, center, and others are likely looking material.

REPUBLICAN CLUB
STANDS NEUTRALRumors Prevalent Last Few Days, Denied by Its President.

Absolute neutrality is the position taken by the Tulsa Republican club in all interparty contests, disputes and factional fights, according to an interview given The World by R.
O. Lang, president of the club last night.

"Rumors have been prevalent within the last few days that the Tulsa Republican club is taking sides in the contests over the position of republican national committee. This impression is untrue," said Mr. Lang, and for the good of the organization I want it understood that the club is entirely neutral on this and all other interparty contests that may arise.

"We want the supporters of both Mr. McCreary and Mr. Hanson to feel themselves welcome in the club headquarters at all times. We want them to frequent the club rooms and make use of the maps, charts, literature, and political data that is available there for all members. If the officers are personally inclined to favor one candidate or the other, they are cautiously refraining from letting their personal feeling impair the effectiveness of the club."

"Discussions have been made recently by local republicans who aspire to other offices that they have the support of the Tulsa Republican club in their ambitions. These statements are incorrect. The club has not and will not support or endorse any candidate for any office until after he has received the republican nomination for that office."

Mr. Lang declared that any other action on the part of the club would be a violation of the constitution and by-laws which read as follows: "This club as an organization shall never endorse any candidate for nomination on the republican ticket nor a candidate for delegate, or place on or connected with any committee, either county, city, state, or national. In short this club as an organization shall never take part in a campaign between two or more republicans."

Deputy Will Take Alleged Forger to Colorado Springs

Pearl Cockrell, ex-convict and alleged forger, who has been held in the city jail since she was arrested last week by detectives in a Tulsa rooming house, will be taken to Colorado Springs Monday, it was announced last night.
Deputy Sheriff J. W. Henderson and Police Marshal A. T. Wayland, both of Colorado Springs, arrived here yesterday and will take the woman back to Colorado with them.

Dr. Morgan to Preach
Dr. R. E. L. Morgan of Oklahoma city, one of the eight members of the commission appointed from the eastern and western conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, to locate a school in the state, will have charge of the morning and evening services at the Eastern Avenue M. E. church today. Dr. Morgan will speak on education in general and will probably touch upon the question of the church school in particular. It is not known how long Dr. Morgan will be in the city, but he will take no definite steps at this time.

ASK MODIFICATION
OF COURT ORDERProperty Owners' Alleged Holdings Damaged by Court Action.

Motion to vacate and modify the temporary injunction against the defendants in the suit of Oscar W.
Edwards against Grant C. Stebbins and others, was filed in district court yesterday upon showing made by the defendants that unless they are allowed to cure for the partly constructed Edwards building upon which operations were abandoned by the plaintiff more than one year ago, the defendants will be greatly damaged.

The petition states that since the failure of Edwards to complete the building water has accumulated in the basement of the building where large quantities of steel and other materials are stored and that preser-vations already taken by the defendants has resulted in the saving of valuable material which must be continued unless the building is to be greatly damaged because of its incomplete condition. The petitioners ask to be allowed to protect the building and take all necessary steps to insure no further loss to the defendants' owners of the land upon which the building is situated. The bearing on the motion is set for January 12.

Can you build an original idea?

The mind tends to bring about the realization of images that are held in the mind.

Your attention directed toward a certain desired object will involuntarily bring into your mind other related things necessary to its accomplishment.

Concentrated thinking will summon all your subconscious faculties into action to work out a constructive idea. The completed idea will often come in a flash of inspiration—that is, fully constructed from your subconscious mind.
You can thus deliberately set about the creation of an idea, the same as you would plan the building of a house.

Of course, after you have built up your idea you will need a nice office outfit with which to turn it into cash. We have it, you can get it, at

"Don't you hate to get up these cold mornings?" one business man asked another.

"Not a bit," was the cheerful reply.

"I suppose you enjoy freezing while you dress?" came the sarcastic inquiry.

"Don't have to," laughed the other. "I have a Dickasonroom is as warm as toast."
